

Oswald Engelmann Rechtsanwalt und Diplom-Betriebswirt (FH)

Oswald Engelmann, born in 1953, first completed a commercial apprenticeship before studying economics at University of Applied Sciences of Frankfurt am Main and later on law at Goethe University of Frankfurt am Main.

He was admitted to the Bar in Germany in 1984 and practised as a lawyer in a law firm specialized in corporate law and intellectual property law for five years.

Since 1988 he has been working as an in-house lawyer in leading positions for international brand products companies of the food and consumer goods industry. His most recent position was General Council at a worldwide market-leading company producing baby food where he was responsible for the DACH-region (Germany, Austria and Switzerland) for 20 years. He also was a member of several professional committees and associations. He joined the law firm Meisterernst in 2014.

Oswald Engelmann's core areas of practice are consultancy of senior-management and operational units in matters of (unfair) competition, contract and food law in order to secure strategic aims regarding company goals, marketing and sales. With his long-standing experience and his professional expertise in this field, he particularly focusses on the realisation of special projects.
