

Anna Neusch

Anna Neusch, born in 1987, studied law at the Ludwig Maximilian University of Munich. She is also a state certified food chemist (Technical University of Munich). As such, she worked for four years in a consulting firm. There she advised clients from the cosmetics industry on regulatory affairs and trained as a DGK safety assessor for cosmetic products.

Anna Neusch expanded her knowledge of food law, which she had already acquired through her first degree, during her law studies, specialising in intellectual property and unfair competition law. She gained further experience in this field as a legal trainee and paralegal in a large German law firm.

After completing her second state law exam, Anna Neusch joined Meisterernst Rechtsanwälte in January 2021. Her practice focusses on advising and representing national and international clients in the areas of food law.

Anna Neusch advises in German and English.
